

Client satisfaction is the underlying goal of everything we do at S&D. We believe in keeping our clients informed at every stage of the litigation process, and seeking their input with regard to how a matter should proceed. In addition, our attorneys are mindful of being as efficient as possible in their work. We engage in only responsible billing practices, never "running up" billable hours needlessly. In this way, we create value for the clients' bottom line, earning their trust and repeat business.

S&D also takes pride in accommodating the special requests of our clients. Whether the request relates to handling of correspondence, completing customized reporting forms, or following specific billing procedures, we are pleased to provide personalized services which make our clients' experience with S&D convenient and enjoyable.
